

HARVARD
T.H. CHAN
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

5th Kolokotronis Symposium on Data Science

so much data, so little time

Co-sponsored by the Dept of Epidemiology at Boston University SPH and the Program in Pharmacoepidemiology at the Harvard Chan School

Should Women Use Acetaminophen during Pregnancy?

Analytic choices and improbable findings

Co-hosted by Martha Werler & Sonia Hernandez-Diaz

Discussion jump-started by Samantha Parker, Mollie Wood, and Yanmin Zhu

Friday, October 5, 2018 | 3:45-5:30pm | Ballard Room, Countway Library

Open to anyone interested in data science. Refreshments will be served.

RSVP at hsph.harvard.edu/causal/kolokotronis

Image source: <https://healthblog.uofmhealth.org/health-management/pregnancy-and-headache-why-it-happens-and-what-to-do>

